

Blue Mountains CWCI 45th Annual Weekend Convention

Speaker: Joan Young

Joan has served in various church, para-church and college-based ministries and she is currently a chaplain at Moore Theological College. She lives with her husband Warwick in a multicultural high-rise suburb of Sydney's inner west. They enjoy belonging to a local church where, until recently, Joan led the Growth Groups and Women's Ministry. When Joan isn't meeting one to one, mentoring others, or prompting neighbours to think in light of eternity, she spends time reading, preparing for her next conference talk, sipping a good coffee or escaping to the great outdoors. For Joan, it's a joy to bring the word of God into every situation, affirming the truth that strength comes through weakness, life comes through death, and things are not always as they appear.

Saturday afternoon speaker: Louise Hope

Louisa was medically retired in 2008 because she has Multiple Sclerosis but she has found that God's grace abounds in her life. Louisa has always enjoyed playing an active role in her local community. These days she devotes much of her time and energy to making a difference with the Louisa Hope Fund for Nurses which she set up following the Lindt Café siege. She loves the multicultural lifestyle of her inner west suburb, settling down with a great book, and travelling when she gets the chance. Louisa's church and her great network of friends and family bring her joy each day.
